BALTIMORE, March 18, 1905.
 Advice from Honduras report a fearful storm in C bay, in which five British vessels were wrecked, includ
 the bark Bathurst, of London, with all on board.
 The captain of the bark Acton, from Liverpool
 New Orleans, has been fined $5,000 for criminal an upon two female passengers.
 The Louisiana Legislature have passed the bill ex
 ing property to the amount of $1,250 from seizure

The Republic says that the lifeless body of an unknown man, of genteel appearance, believed to be from the city of New York, was found on Saturday on the farm of Joseph Bradley, in Montgomery county. He had evidently blown his brains out with a pistol. The man had been obliterated on his clothes. Ten dollars in money was found in his pocket. His clothes were new, and of the most fashionable kind.

Arrest of a Murderer.

CANANDAIGUA, March 16.—J. A. S. Slater, who murdered a Irishman here last summer, and who has heretofore eluded all pursuit, has been arrested, and is now lodged in our jail.

Conviction of Seaman, the Negro, for the Murder of his Daughter.
POUGHKEEPSIE, March 18, 1886.
Seaman, the negro who was arrested a short time ago for the murder of his daughter, was to-day found guilty. His sentence is to be pronounced on Saturday.

A man, named John Byron, was drowned in the Ohio Canal at Clinton, on Sunday last. There are some suspicions of foul play, but the verdict of the coroner, to-day, was "accidental drowning, while intoxicated."

Important Movement of the Liquor Dealers—
—New Organ about to be Established.
 Recently, numerous meetings of the liquor dealers have been held in this city. Last evening, at French Hotel, an important and crowded meeting was held, in which all the wards were represented, and the project of a new dollar wine, beer and liquor association was discussed.

The President said the subject was one of vast importance. The transience man had their own paper, and they were not to be discussed. The subject has long since been mooted and debated; but last night it was nearly brought to a peaceful issue, and ere long the new organ may be expected to have a local habitation and a name. The proceedings were rather private; but we are permitted to publish them, on condition of suppressing a few of the names.

probable as they were—and he did not see why a far more powerful interest—the liquor interest—ought not to be represented by a paper entirely devoted to its service. He was a democracy, an able and willing to write down such "ragged" as the Sun, Tribune, and Times, and that would be of no avail. He had, on all occasions, to "give fits" to the time-serving politicians who pandered to the fanatical spirit that would enact "Blue Laws" all over the country. They had been fighting too long without an organ. This was their chance battle they had fought. In 1845 they had a narrow steps for the Sun. What I propose is, that we take immediate steps to ascertain what salaries these gentlemen receive—how far they earn them by abusing us, and crying out a trade that is as honest and honorable, and as useful to us in its ways as their own—and whether a large revolution might not be made in the income of some of those unscrupulous agitators, who have waxed fat and kicked against the very hand that fed them. (Immense applause.)

Mr. STROCHHAUSEN.—They are lazy drones, any how, and are not contributing up what honest men earn hard behind the counter—
—and they think the dollars that smell strong of champagne and brandy are as sweet as any others. (Much laughter.)
Mr. VANHOUGHTEN.—And what is more, they take the private drink themselves, though they are making such a fuss about temperance. (Renewed laughter.)
PRESIDENT.—Gentlemen, let us settle one thing at a time. The principal object of this meeting is to get a NEWSPAPER, on the joint stock principle, like the Morning Advertiser, of London, which is called the Vintennian newspaper. It not only sustains their interests, but makes a handsome profit besides. I hold in my hands a list of names, the first of which is down for $5,000. I want $100,000 to-night, to begin with, the capital to be paid in during the next twelve months to $100,000.

bo puts it in, after that Fourieite paper is banished from all the groceries of the city, and from every bar-room and hotel. It is already kicked out of a great number, and I will soon be as scarce among us as the teetotallers themselves. (Laughter.) The organ of the "lema's" will be brought to its senses at last. Put my name down for £250 in the new organ of good liquor.

LAWRENCE—There is not a legal advertisement that I have seen, and I am sure over that we will prevent those journals that are opposed to us from getting any more business.

REYNOLDS—I will do my utmost to take any

I am the sole proprietor, and let me reap the profits.
I don't want to go into it personally, but I don't want you to back out on account of debts or libels.

After some further discussion, the question as to the mode of organizing the paper was referred to a committee of five, who are to report to the next meeting. The assemblage then separated. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed.
